DID YOU KNOW?

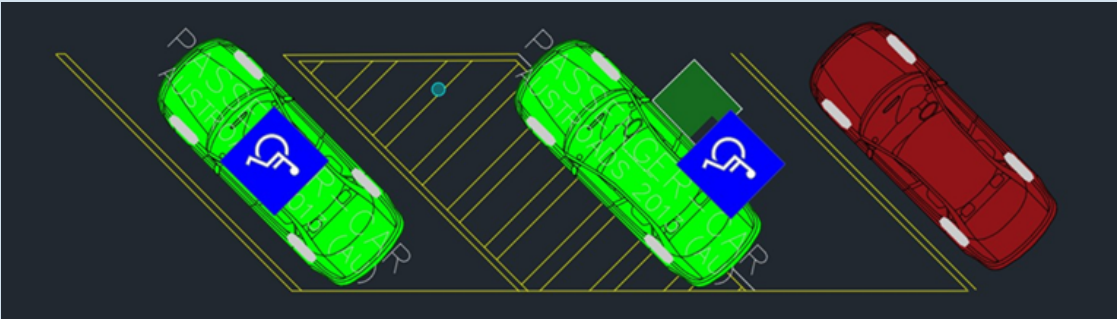

If you hold a NSW Mobility Parking Scheme (MPS) Permit, you can use the painted shared zone to give yourself extra space to get in or out of your vehicle.

You don't need to stay completely inside the marked blue disabled bay if the shared area helps you access your car safely.

According to Australian Standards:
"Depending on which side of the vehicle the person needs to alight, one vehicle may need to move into the shared area."

In the image below, the green car uses the shared zone legally because the red car blocks the driver's door.

✓ Both green cars are parked correctly in disabled spaces.
